

Sierra Central Marks it's 29th year of supporting students in our communities by awarding ten $1,000 scholarships at our Annual Meeting to students who live throughout our Northern California communities. "We are committed to helping further the education of our future leaders, which is why we have been awarding scholarships to deserving students for the last 29 years. We recognize that scholarships serve as a powerful way to encourage students to reach for their dreams and is a reminder that others believe in their potential," said CEO John Cassidy.

The following students were selected by a panel of independent judges based on the completion of a biography essay, demonstrated leadership skills, active participation in school & community activities and GPA: Hannah Baker, Nevada Union High School; Jaymison Haeussler, Paradise High School; Kalah Horton, California State University, Chico; Justin Horton, Oroville High School; Melanah Poole, Minot High School; Sean McFadden, Corning High School; Wesley Prater, Chico High School; Mundeep Purewal, Yuba City High School; Amanda Tinajero, River Valley High School; and Jessica Yount, Yuba Community College.
